

[Essay Subject]

In a field of research or a job that you have worked or an area that you are currently interested in, give an example of a problem that caused by a larger and more complicated system, and describe what should be done to solve the problem from an aspect of system design within 400 words.